In many of the academic institutions, the admission process is accomplished through the Counselling or (First come first serve) FCFS basis. The Counselling process of the student is burdensome and strenuous, being so intricate and non-automated various risks are involved in data management as well. To overcome such factors, Veritos came up with the Online Counselling and Admission Module that has accelerated and inflated the whole process. The proposed system is a two-way beneficiary process to university as well as students, having various added advantages like

- Automated seat allotment.
- Information regarding the vacant seats is given to the student.
- Faster Response time and proper reporting.
- Records are maintained systematically in a centralized system.
- Cost-effective & time-saving.
- Minimum Human Intervention, Facile.
- Proper Communication channel for college management and students.
- Precise and Transparent.
